Austin, TX	ECHO Corporation for Supportive Housing (PFS)	CSH and its partners, the Center for Health Care Strategies and Third Sector Capital Partners, are working with ECHO to assess the feasibility of a PFS initiative focused on creating supportive housing for vulnerable populations. Specifically, this project will target super utilizers of health care (including emergency department, outpatient, inpatient, and EMS), criminal justice and shelter services. Among other technical assistance, CSH is working with ECHO to develop methods that a) determine eligibility for the initiative across the three systems, and b) identify payment structures that reflect the distribution of cost benefits among jurisdictional units. This project will target the city of Austin and Travis County. This project builds on innovative community efforts to scale supportive housing and complements the statewide transition to integrated behavioral and primary healthcare via managed care organizations, and it is consistent with the Community Care Collaboration's plans to implement a patient-centered medical home model for low-income individuals with complex chronic health conditions.
